A YEAR IN THE LIFE

The time, August 25, 1988, 7:45. The place - Montevallo High. Destination, graduation, 1989. There was an odor in the air; you know the smell: a freshly cleaned school, ammonia in the bathroom, and chalk dust in the classroom. The sounds filled your ears as everyone was catching up on the past summer's gossip: the shopping sprees, the summer parties, the summertime flings, who broke up with whom, and who was taken and who was not! Everyone was "decked out" in their most important outfit of the year.

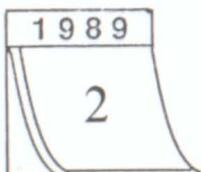

"Pour some sugar on me!" Crystal Minor lip-sincs the lead for the majorettes at the lip-sinc contest.

Batter Up!

1, 2, 3 . . . strikes you're out!!! With a thirteen and nine season, the competitive Bulldogs won and lost some very close games. "It was very exciting, and there was never a dull moment," said Coach Brown.

Highlights of the year included Senior Tyron Goodwin and Heath Galloway's making All County. In addition, Heath made Central Alabama All Stars. Said Todd Davis, "Last year was a good learning year. It will be a better year in '89, and we'll have a lot more experience. Our goal for this year is to be the area champs . . . and go to state." Coach Brown agrees and adds, "I'm very optimistic; we have a chance to have a really good season and our first good shot at the playoffs."

TRACK

For Your Information

On your mark, get set, go . . . And another track season began. The coaches for the Montevallo Track Team were Mr. Blanton and Mr. Glasscock. The track team competed in several track meets; among them were Pelham, Briarwood, and Troy State. Highlights of these meets were the girls' team winning 3rd place at Pelham, and Lindett Peoples and Derrick Gilmore qualifying to go to state. Reflected Ky MacPherson on the '88 track season, "We practiced really hard, but it was not enough." Alan Harris agreed, "We practiced, but since we were such a young track team, we did not do as well as we wanted to."

Mr. Blanton said, "We had a lot of potential last year, and there was a super performance from all the members. This year we hope to be a lot better. I believe if the students put forth enough effort, there's no limit to how far we can go. I would like to see us win the State Championship."

ONE, ONE, ONE!

If it's musical and from MHS it has got to be good. The Symphonic band is proof of this. At the District Contest they earned all ones, and then they proceeded to State. There, once again, they earned all ones.

Individual awards last year were as follows: All County: Jenifer Lawley, Jenny Lucas, Phillip Greer, Angie Gerber, Vickie Renfro, Caroline Harkins, Marcus Young, Angie Jones, Betsy Weese, and Michele Killingsworth. All State medals went to Betsy Weese and Angie Gerber, who also achieved Master musician.

Angie Jones remembers, "Although it was my first prom, and I didn't know what to expect, everything turned out better than I ever hoped it could be."

The 1988 Summer Olympics were in Seoul, Korea. Much controversy was concerned with where the Olympics should be held in the future.

The U.S. did as well as expected.

The conversation around this year's Olympics focused on the use of steroids in the athletic field.

Drug testing at the Olympics was mandatory and some surprising facts came out. Many well-known athletes had been using steroids to improve their athletic ability. In addition, newcomers were using steroids.

Hopefully at the next Olympics, wherever it is held, conversations about steroids and drug testing will be obsolete.

THE QUEST FOR THE PRESIDENCY

1988 was a year of drastic political change. Out of the several candidates that ran, the Democratic choice was Michael Dukakis and the Republican choice was George Bush. Dukakis chose Lloyd Bentsen for a running mate while Bush chose Dan Quayle.

The campaign trail was long and hard. The people of the U.S. along with the candidates were all to ready for Nov. 2. In the poll taken by the journalism class at MHS, the student body had a strong pull for the Bush/Quayle ticket.

The campaign this year will be remembered as one of "dirty politics". One commentator said, "To err is human, but to blame it on someone is politics."

The next four years will disclose if the people's choice was the right choice.

No Pain, No Gain

Most people think football practice begins the first week of school. NOT TRUE! The players' hard work and dedication actually began mid August. The first two weeks of practice were mainly for conditioning the players, after the long summer vacation. The players had practice early in the morning and then late afternoon. They were called two-a-days and were used for getting the players back into shape. The second week was used for drilling and learning new plays.

Coty Jones said, "Two-a-days get you in better condition and ready for the game." Coach Vakkakes agrees, "Summer practice helps the players to last the whole game."

Coach Pierson adds a little humor to the day's practice.

Many people don't realize how much work is involved in cheerleading. In the intense summer heat, the cheerleaders can be seen practicing on the grounds at MHS. In August the cheerleaders spent most of their time rehearsing old routines and thinking of new ones to make the games and pep rallies more exciting.

Suzanne Child relates, "Summer camp for learning new material." "If we didn't have practice, we wouldn't be prepared for cheering season," says Tina Garner. In addition, Suzanne says, "It was hard work, but we had a lot of fun. We felt good about the awards we received."

Practice Makes Perfect

"Get your horns in the middle, heals together, toes apart" . . . And so began another day of band practice. The band began their summer practice on August first. Promptly at 8:00 students were poised and ready to begin another grueling season. During their four hour practice the band would practice marching in formation, learn new songs, and review old songs. These practices for the band were not only for the half time shows but also for contests that the band participated in throughout the year. Practicing four hours a day and five days a week did pay off, as our band earned all "1's" in competition. Mr. Weese agrees, "Summer band camp is a necessary part of preliminary marching band fundamentals."

Stand Up . . .

"Rowdy, Rowdy that's our style! Get up fans and cheer a while!" This cheer was performed at several of the pep rallies in order to instill spirit in the students as well as the Bulldogs. During the pep rallies throughout the year the cheerleaders performed several dance routines, and the band played portions of the halftime show. In addition, the 1988 Bulldogs were introduced to the students. A special pep rally was held the week of Homecoming. During this rally the senior players presented the cheerleaders with mums for their patience and support.

"Make It Last Forever," was the theme and the dream for all who attended homecoming. Before the game, the parents of the players were presented to the home crowd. At half-time there was an exciting moment when Melissa Payne was announced as homecoming queen. Her court consisted of Lauren Colley, Tammytly McKenzie, Tina Garner, Renee Robertson, Rebecca Kelly, Robin Lawley, Marli Erwin, and Janet Parker. After the game there was a homecoming dance, and a lead out was held by both the homecoming queen and court and the senior football players. "Without all the participation we received homecoming wouldn't have been as successful," stated Laura McCollough.

Break! Free at last. That glorious time which we hold so dear. After spending all morning slaving over books many students look forward to break. Other students like to spend their spare time relaxing in the sun or socializing.

Those Fabulous Fads

Is it possible . . . could it be . . . in our wildest imaginations are we able to comprehend that what we wear and hold so dear today . . . Will it actually appear S-T-R-A-N-G-E in ten years? Surely not . . . or as we say today, "Get Real". Are the fads of today here to stay? Fads change from year to year. Now it's "sharp" to wear plain white "buddies" or brown leather Dex shoes, biking shorts, and colorful braided bracelets. Wearing class rings & lettermen's jackets are still old favorites. Miniskirts, tie-dyed shirts, and peace symbols are back, but does that mean the return of bell-bottoms and platform shoes? We hope not!

A Wonderful Year For Seniors

Each year a new class of seniors arrive at their final year of high school. One teacher who has witnessed many senior classes is Ms. Belisle. She has several traits she likes to see in a senior, among these being self discipline and the ability to plan ahead.

When asked what she thought this Senior Class would be doing in ten years she replied, "Ninety-nine percent of this Senior Class will accomplish any thing they set out to do." Ms. Belisle believes that this Senior Class is unique because they have a strong desire to excel. For example, Dawn Payne plans to go to college and major in nursing. Pam Alexander wants to go to Jacksonville State, major in Criminal Justice, get married, have three children, and be rich! Wendy Boothe plans to take a year off, get a job and then go to college. Tanya Fochtmann is going to college to study nursing and she also plans to get married. Angie Gerber plans to be a professional musician and attend the University of Miami.

What's It Like To Be . . . A Junior

As the Juniors realize how close they are to graduating, their feelings tend to go from one extreme to the other. Chris Chism is glad that there is only one more year of school while Shannon Hurt is excited about class rings. "Even though the courses are getting hard, I am comfortable at school as a junior. I am able to establish myself as a person and able to build a good foundation for my future," stated Damian Hines.

One thing all juniors seem to have in common is the anticipation of their senior year.

Michele Killingsworth relates, "Being a junior can be good because of the graduation exams which make you really think hard about your future. For me it's a year of growing. I face new things everyday. Suddenly you're faced with a job, a car and responsibilities. I enjoy my junior year because it symbolizes a step closer to individual freedom."

Jennifer Yeager states, "When you are a junior you're close to graduation, but you don't have to make all the decisions a senior has to make, like what college to go to. A junior has to think about the future but it's not immediate."

Jennie Hatcher "plays it cool".

SOPHOMORES

A Good Year

All sophomores have one thing in common . . . , the dream of becoming an upper classman. Finally, the dream is getting closer. The years of hard work, frustrations and determination are beginning to pay off. The fears and anxieties of being under-classmen are almost over. They are suddenly being replaced with hopes and dreams of the future. The anticipations of becoming an adult, going to college, and deciding what to do with the rest of their lives are also quickly becoming more important to sophomores. This year many MHS sophomores had the chance to relive their past. Mr. Latham, a 10th grade English teacher, taught many of the sophomores when they were 8th graders. He has witnessed the growth and changes of this group. "I was glad to have the chance to work with these bright students once again."

A "Fresh" Start

Class of 92

The freshman year may seem the hardest. They are meeting new people, changing schools, and once again having to begin from the bottom.

Freshmen are easily distinguished from other classes because they have a certain characteristic that makes them strive to be the best. Perhaps it is the way they dress, the way they act, or their ability to stand out in a crowd. They all have that "freshman glow."

When it comes to clothes, this year's freshmen class are always dressed to a "T".

They tend to set the styles for the upperclassmen, and also for the students in the middle school. "I like to dress casual," commented Lacey Thomas. "Most of the time I enjoy wearing sweaters and mini-skirts." Maggie Carter replied, "The way I dress depends on my mood. If I'm in a lazy mood, I'm happy with my shorts and a t-shirt. Other times I'm comfortable with jeans and a sweat shirt."

Whether it's their clothes or their personality, the class of '92 has the ability to succeed in life.

Faculty & Staff

Although you may think that the faculty of MHS does nothing but make out tests and write tardies, this isn't necessarily so. This diversified group of people have many other interests, hobbies, and things they enjoy. For example, Mr. Horton likes snow skiing, reading, and having all-night rook parties. Mr. Haynes enjoys the outdoor life, as does Mrs. Robinson. She raises violets, roses, and houseplants. Building antique cars and working with wood are some of Mr. Blanton's hobbies. Danny Akers, a private pilot, "flies the friendly skies," while Mr. Andrews enjoys spending time with his children. "I have several things I enjoy; I love to learn, so I'll be going to college the rest of my life. But I also love to shop and be with my friends," said Ms. Amaro.

FFA

The National Emblem of the FFA is pictured below. Each symbol of the FFA has a special significance:

The cross of an ear of corn, which forms the outline of the emblem, represents common agricultural interests since corn is native to America and is grown in every state.

The rising sun signifies progress and the new day that will dawn when all farmers are educated and have learned to cooperate.

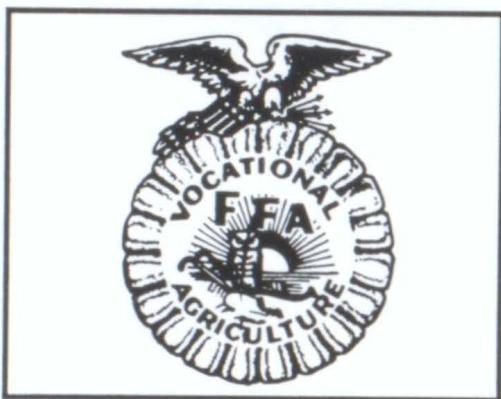

The plow is the symbol of labor and tillage of the soil.

The eagle signifies the national scope of the organization.

The owl, is the symbol of knowledge and wisdom.

Within the FFA emblem are the letters "FFA" and the words "vocational agriculture" signifying the integral relationship of this educational program.

"The FFA endeavors to uphold these ideals and principles in every project we undertake," comments FFA member Derrick Stallworth.

Mrs. Hankins commented, "This visit is a traditional event that has been sponsored by the FHA for a number of years. It helps students understand that the meaning of Christmas comes in giving, and not just receiving. FHA is a service organization. One of our main goals is to try and serve our school, our community, and our families."

MHS TROUBADOURS . . .

The award-winning MHS marching band achieved even greater heights during the 1988 season. This year they began their half-time show with a Disney medley. Then they performed the drum feature. This was followed by the "Dirty Dancing" medley, which featured soloist Jennifer Lawley on trumpet. The band exited to Lionel Richie's "Still", with a duet by Jennifer Lawley and Betsy Weese. There was also a solo on trombone by Shannon Hurt. This year the band retained its reputation by making straight 1's at the Southern Marching Festival, as well as earning all superior ratings at the Emerald Coast Marching Festival in Ft. Walton Beach, Florida.

We've Got What It Takes

Who holds the pep rallies, makes the posters, throws the ever-famous souvenir footballs, supports the Bulldogs through thick and thin, and keeps up the spirit at MHS? Why, our cheerleaders, of course!

Like the football team, the cheerleaders begin their "season" in the summer. Although the everyday practice from 8:00 to 12:00 began August 1, they attended Universal Cheerleader Association Camp at the University of Montevallo, June 12-15, where they won the dance competition and the Master Key To Spirit Award. Valorie Herron, head cheerleader, won All Star Cheerleader, which gave her a chance to go to London to perform in the New Year's Day Parade.

The cheerleaders try hard to keep everyone's spirit high by sponsoring events such as the Powder Puff football game and giving gifts to senior football players during Homecoming week as their "Secret Cheerleaders".

Superior Symphonic Sounds

The 88-89 Symphonic Band had a busy year during which they attended several competitions including District. They also held the annual Christmas concert. The band practiced many extra hours in order to make the concert memorable. During the concert the band performed one of their favorite numbers, "The U.S. Field Artillery March." Senior Mike Ludwig added to the excitement by firing a pistol loaded with blanks at the conclusion of the selection. Student teacher Kevin Baxter, a graduate of the University of Montevallo, tried his hand at directing. The band also performed at the District Competition, which took place a week before the AEA spring holidays. Angie Gerber, Betsy Weese, and Caroline Harkins were chosen for Honor Bands.

MONTEVALLO VS.

Vs. Calera

The Dogs of Montevallo began their '88 season against the county rival, Calera Eagles, under new head coach Jim Vakakes.

With a young offensive field and an inexperienced backfield the Dogs managed only 100 yards rushing and 32 yards passing, as the Eagles stomped the Dogs of Montevallo 47-0. The top offensive player for the Dogs was junior Ashley Hudson, who struggled for 31 yards in only 5 carries while senior Mike Swords converted 2 fumbles and 21 total tackles.

Vs. Pelham

A series of home games began with the dogs taking on the arch-rival Pelham Panthers. The Dogs came out with an arsenal of stunts and blitzes, but the determined Panthers ran for a total of 240 yards and a 30-0 win. Highlights for Montevallo included 8 tackles by Mike Swords, 8 tackles for Derrick Gilmore, giving the MHS Dogs hope for the future.

vs. Shelby County

The "hungry for a win" Bulldogs charged onto the field to face off with the 4A Shelby County Wildcats. The defense gave a good effort with Drew Floyd having 17 tackles, but it was not enough as the Wildcats coasted to an easy win 33-6.

vs. Thompson

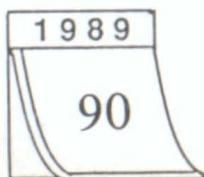

The 6A Warriors strolled onto the field for a sure cake-walk on the Bulldogs. The winless Bulldogs were ready for battle, but the Dogs, led by Albert Jones, were not tough enough for the Warriors as the MHS lost in a heart-breaker 19-7.

vs. Jemison

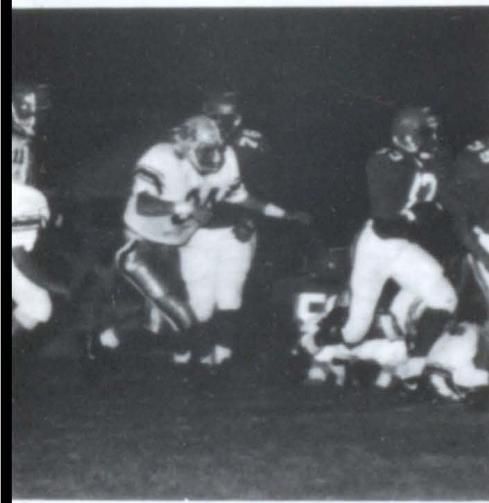

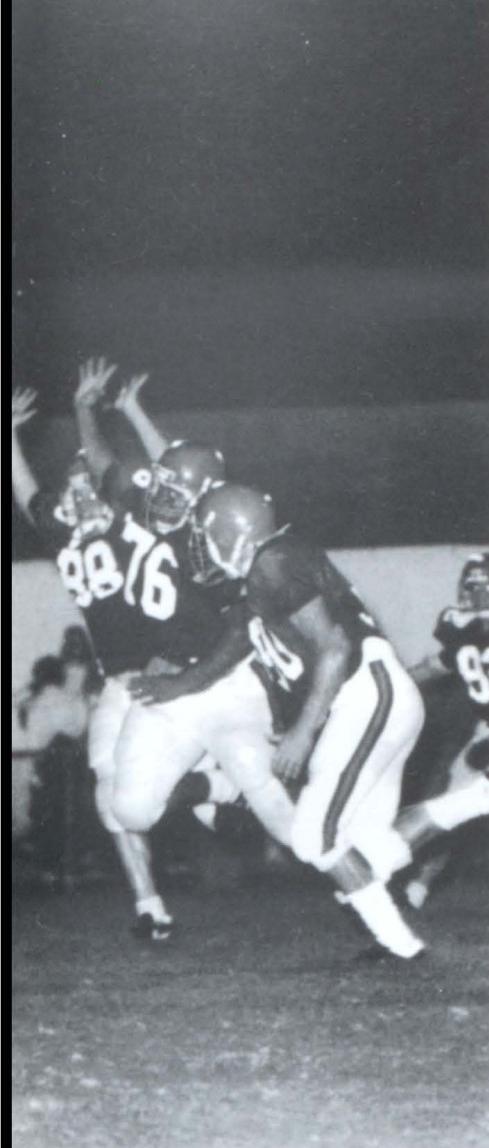

Striving for a win, the Bulldogs traveled to Jemison to take on the Panthers. The defense held tough, but Jemison prevailed 27-6.

vs. Briarwood

The mighty Bulldogs traveled to Briarwood with a "do-or-die" attitude. This, plus Greg Cox's carrying for two touchdowns, licked the Lions for the Bulldog's first win 20-0.

vs. John Carroll

Mike Swords had a season high of 29 tackles, but it was not enough as the Cavaliers conquered 13-0.

Montevallo

vs. B.B. Comer

The Bulldogs rushed for a total of 129 yards on 26 attempts, but the powerful Tigers of B.B. Comer were too talented and well prepared for the Friday night loss, 27-6. "They were a fine club with talent, size, and were a well coached team" said Coach Vakakes.

On the "quarterback keep" Junior Terry Wallace punches through the defense of Shelby County.

After a hard-fought game Senior Jack Carter walks off the field in dismay.

After a crucial block by Senior Mike Swords, running back Damian Hines is able to get that extra yardage.

After a pressuring defense, quarterback Terry Wallace decides to keep the ball and run for another Montevallo first down.

SPORTS

Trial and Error

This was a season of trial and error as the young and inexperienced junior varsity team went through a tough season of 2-4. The Bulldogs, coached by Terry Sullens, was one of Montevallo's smallest, but toughest teams in years. The Bulldog's only wins came against 3A Briarwood Lions and 4A Jemison Panthers. Even though the record doesn't show much, the dogs' opponents found it difficult to win easily. Coach Sullens said, "This was a learning process; they learned teamwork, self discipline and dedication in preparation for varsity."

M.H.S. P.R.I.D.E.

P.R.I.D.E. were the letters spelled out at the beginning of the season by the forceful Bulldogs. This was a Montevallo team that made enemies all across the county as well as the state. The Bulldogs played week after week against county rivals and area foes gaining respect from each opponent that they played.

Although this was a young team, overall they worked hard and dedicated themselves to bring back the old tradition of "Montevallo Pride".

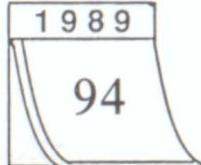

This was also a year the team gained more respect for each other and themselves. Commented coach Bobby Pierson, "At the beginning of the season I really did not know what to expect. Everyday I watched each and every individual and spotted some special talents I did not know they possessed. Now that I understand the team more, I have got high sights on bringing back a State Championship trophy."

ON THE TOP

"To be on top takes pride, courage, and a desire" said junior Randy Tolbert. Montevallo was picked to finish first in its area by pre-season polls and coaches. The Bulldogs began the season with a 4 and 0 record, under head coach Bobby Pierson, before losing their first game at home against the county foe Thompson Warriors. It was a long, hard, but rewarding season as the Bulldogs prevailed throughout the state. They exhibited great sportsmanship. Sophomore guard Derick Stallworth related, "This was my first year of playing varsity basketball, and as a sophomore I learned discipline. I've learned to cope with difficult problems at a time when things didn't look their best. Being a Montevallo basketball player means not only being a great player but also having a lot of class."

"The future for the Montevallo Bulldogs will be great. We are planning to go all the way to state and win," stated Aaron Fulgham.

He shoots for 2... and it's good! This often was heard at the B-Team games this past season. Players Edward Patrick, 3 point specialist Myron Lilly, and defense specialist Ashley Hudson enabled the Montevallo Bulldogs to enjoy another successful season. Returning only one starter from last year's 18-4 season, this season was expected to be a rebuilding year for the young players. However, once again Montevallo seemed to do the impossible as they proved themselves to be strong and tough. Also making his first appearance on the B-Team basketball staff was a new coach, Mark Edge.

FUTURE HOPES

It was a year of disappointments and heartaches, but the girls never gave up. According to junior Becky Clark, the team's record didn't reflect their abilities. She feels the team will be much better next year.

"We were a young team, there were many freshmen. I feel this was a building year for us. It was a difficult year for all of us. We wanted to match the example the guys set for us and bring back a win for the school. The support of the teachers and students played an important role in how we felt about ourselves," said Becky Clark.

Commented the girls' new coach, Mr. Sullens, "I appreciated all the support that was given to our team this year."

Laura McCollough and Shawn Fulgham are trapping an opponent.

Roberta Rutledge wins tip-off.

In Memory of Jodie Turner

How can one sufficiently account for life?

Words are not the facility,
Yet they are as close as we come.

For this reason, I wish to Submit to paper a life.
Not accomplishments, failures,
or material aspects . . .
But the true essence of a life.
Dearer to me than my own,
My sister Jodie Turner.

First, the Daughter.
Second, the sister. —
And always and forever the friend.

Exuberant and overflowing with joy
She not only sought pleasure out of life for herself,
But also those around her.
More exceptional however was that she
Not only sought these things
She achieved them.

Like a solitary beam somehow fighting its way through the clouds,
She fought to make us happy
And to make us have a good time —
To brighten up even our worst days
And more often than not she succeeded.

When she left us in Georgia to come to Alabama
We were not sure how she would handle the adjustment,
And neither was she.
I wish to thank the residents of Montevallo
For teaching her the real meaning
Of being a friend.

I can honestly say that she made a home here —
She had here her first true love —
Something for which my gratitude is undefinable.

The comfort of knowing that she received

All the love, understanding, and friendship here
That anyone could ask for Helps me to accept her fate.

We must always remember one particular aspect of Jodie —
You might call it her trademark —
Her laugh.

A sound not of mere enjoyment,
but true happiness
That had an infectious quality that would
Encompass all those around her.

She was giving more of herself
Than she shall ever know.

We discussed the topic of death
on several occasions —
And I feel fairly safe in relaying to you her feelings:

"I know they will cry and be sad,
But please tell them not to dwell
on it —
I want to be remembered in memories that
Make people laugh and be happy
Because wherever we go when we do die
I will surely be better off than those left on Earth."

Therefore, as her sister, I ask you to overcome
Your grief and remember her as she wished —

When she appears in your mind,
Make it a memory that lives with
The spirit of her laugh,
One that warms you and leaves
You content and happy with life.

And to Jodie —
I know that you always enjoyed my poems
So I felt this was the most appropriate
Way to express myself on this occasion.

I hope you like it,
We will always love you,
Just as you did us.
Good-bye and we will miss you.
And always remember —
Only the good die young.

Joanie Turner

Dunk It!!

Montevallo scores for three! This often was heard at the J-V games this past season. The players with all their skill and ability meant that they were able to relentlessly bombard their opponents' goals and score many points. The J-V starters also added points to the scoreboard by hitting three-point shots. In addition, the Bulldogs amazed their opponents by their superior skills at shooting free throws.

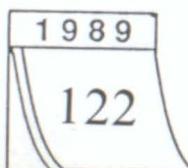

Beginning stats indicated the players who showed real potential at the start of the season were; Doug Pate, Lance Earnest, Edward Patrick, Albert Jones, and Kacy Henderson. With all the playing ability on the court, the team was able to win many exciting games.

Eighth grader Mike Jones gets fouled as he attempts to score against Pelham.

J-VARSITY

At the game against Thompson, Rick Shack dribbles the ball, as Tony Honeycutt awaits some action to come his way.

William Brown prepares to pass a ball to teammate Lee Fowler.

The New Addition

This year the B-Team and the girls' varsity basketball team had an addition to the excitement during their games: a seven member B-Team Cheerleading squad. The squad was the first of its kind at Montevallo High School.

The girls attended a week-long clinic prior to try-outs. At the clinic the hopefuls learned three jumps, a dance routine and three cheers. "I was glad the tryouts were not open to the public, because I would have been more nervous," recalled Paula Stano. Mollis Cottingham feels the B-team cheerleaders are an asset to the games. "I like to get out there to help our teams, because it gives the players more spirit and incentive to do well." she stated.

The new addition to MHS is made up of freshmen Rachel McKinney, head, Lacey Thomas, Paula Stano, Jennifer McKinnon, Janet Parker, Mollis Cottingham and sophomore Rebecca Kelly.

Jennifer McKinnon and Rebecca Kelly lead the crowd in a cheer to support the B-team Bulldogs.

During a time-out Paula Stano cheers the B-team on to victory.

Head Cheerleader Rachel McKinney leads the squad in a chant at halftime.

AND IN CONCLUSION . . .

It was a year of change throughout the world, as well as in Montevallo. The United States elected a new president, while internationally, the Olympic Games were played in Seoul, Korea. Here at home, the mood was set by President Bush as he spoke of a "kinder, gentler nation." At Montevallo High we have experienced a kinder, gentler school. We are a united team. We are harmonious. We are proud. We have come a long way this year, and we will not quit striving until we reach perfection.
